DELAY MAY BE OMINOUS

Considered Certain Germans Will Make Mighty Effort to Break Lines.

AMERICANS WORRY HUNS

Letter Resort to Use of Internal Machine to Prevent Raising of No Man's Land and Even German Land at Will; 100 Names in Casualty List

By Associated Press. WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, May 17.—The Allies are still waiting for Field Marshal Hindenburg to show his hand. No more magnificent weather could be imagined than has favored the western front in the last 48 hours but even this has brought no change in the military situation. The Germans continue to remain comparatively inactive and were it not for the rumbling of the guns and clouds of dust along the line of transport and the flight of aeroplanes winging their way across the battle front it would be hard to realize that a war was going on. Notwithstanding this there has been no relaxation of the tension which has existed along the front for many days. It is realized that the enemy may strike at any time.

The delay is in itself an added indication that the next German push is to be one of great magnitude and ferocity. This next battle may easily be the critical one, for the Germans undoubtedly will attempt once more to smash entirely through the Allied line.

ARTILLERY FIRE BECOMES INCREDIBLY HEAVY. LONDON, May 17.—The German artillery fire is increasingly active from the line to Hinges along the western side of the Flanders salient and between the forests of Nieppe and to Metzere on the northern side of the salient, the war office announces.

PARIS, May 17.—Violent artillery fighting in the region of Hailles, southeast of Amiens, is reported in today's official statement.

USE INTERNAL MACHINE TO THWART U. S. PATROLS. WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 17.—The Germans oppose the American sector northwest of Toul are resorting to internal machine in an effort to check the activity of American patrols, numbers of which go out every night to roam in No Man's Land and even German land virtually at will.

One of an American patrol stepped on a harmless looking wire near the German lines yesterday and a bomb immediately exploded in the center of the patrol group. It had been planted by the enemy.

The members of the patrol either entered or were assisted into an abandoned trench nearby, and the soldiers prepared for a fight, believing one was certain to come. They waited in the darkness for half an hour for something to happen, but the Germans did not come out.

Mulford's time was 97 miles per hour in the final heat in which he competed with Eddie Hearne and Tommy Milton. Hearne finished second at 95 miles per hour and Milton third, 93 miles.

Winning laurels were shared by Mulford with Barney Oldfield who defeated Louis Chevrolet by 21 hundredths of a second in a five lap match race. The fastest time in the race was made by Oldfield who attained an average of 102 miles per hour.

The day was without thrills except for an accident of Ira Vail's when he struck a flag box at death curve, injuring two men, Ray Coldron and J. W. Barnes, flagmen. The advertised flight of Delloyd Thompson failed to come off.

Fred McCarthy, of this city, driving a Hudson finished second in the third and fourth heats of the big race but did not get into final money.

THREE-FOURTHS OF FRONT MUST BE U. S. MANNED

Undoubtedly Up to America to Win War, Says Corporal Gowans.

ALLIES ARE WORN OUT

Speaker at Brimstone Corner Gives Vivid Descriptions of Battles and Tells War Red Cross Is Doing for the Wounded and War's Helpless.

"You people have got to get in this war. It's up to America to win it," Corporal Charles Gowans of the Royal Highlanders of the Canadian army, told a big crowd of listeners at Brimstone corner last night. "We've been a long time in this war, when you people here were practically asleep. Now the rest are almost played out and it's up to America to win it. That you will win it there is no doubt, but the quicker you do it the more of your boys you will save and the sooner they will come home."

"When your boys get over there in force they will occupy three-fourths of the fighting front. That front is about 500 miles long. You'll also have casualties. You won't, however, go into the war unprepared, like we were. In London, during the first air raids, we had only three anti-aircraft guns. They were mounted on automobiles and we had to run them all over the city to make the Germans think we had about 3,000."

Corporal Gowans is making a tour of Fayette county speaking in behalf of the Red Cross chapter, preparatory to opening the War Fund drive. He described conditions in the trenches and the life of a fighter, telling of the wonderful work of the Red Cross, which was highly praised.

"You people can't imagine the intensity of the gunfire. You have to be there to realize what it is like. It's impossible to imagine what thousands of guns concentrated on one point can do." The soldier told of going back to a dressing station after a hard fight. "There, lying on the ground, were thousands of wounded. I wish you men could have seen that. Then you would understand what war means. Those men were all shot to pieces and were lying there waiting on first aid. It is the Red Cross that takes care of these sufferers."

AMERICAN TROOPS JOIN FORCES WITH BRITISH IN NORTH

Are Part of New and Formidable Army Lined Up Against Germans.

THE AVIATORS ARE ACTIVE

Lieutenant Rickenbacher, Ohio Auto Racer, Attacks Three Enemy Machines and Brings Down One of Them; Flyer Recently Decorated.

By Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 17.—Troops of the new American army have arrived within the zone of the British forces in northern France and are now completing their training in the area occupied by the troops which are blocking the path of the Germans to the channel ports.

The British officers and men who are training the new force say the Americans are of the finest material and are certain to give a most excellent account of themselves when they meet the Germans.

The American forces on arriving within the British zone were cheered to the skies by the sons of Britain, many of whom bore unmistakable signs of battle. They had not seen the Americans before but they knew they were coming.

The Americans on the other hand gained all the more enthusiasm by the heartiness of the greetings which they received from their battle-scarred comrades in arms.

TEAM CAPTAINS NAMED FOR RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

They Meet This Afternoon to Select Men to Assist in the Drive.

BIXLER AGAIN IN RACE

Winner of Highest Honors in Liberty Loan Canvass Will Again Attempt to Have His Name Painted in Red for Public View; All Are Ready.

Preparations for the local Red Cross drive were completed this afternoon when the team captains met to choose the men who will assist them in the coming campaign. There will be 12 canvassing teams and probably 12 men on each team. The men will be gotten together and the work outlined so that on the opening day of the drive, Monday, no time will be lost in giving instructions.

The twelve captains who will serve in the coming drive are practically the same as those who had charge of the Liberty Loan canvass. A. O. Bixler, champion solicitor, will head one of the teams; and he will probably make the other steps to be in the running for first place.

Other captains are: M. B. Pryce, S. P. Asha, C. W. Downs, W. R. Long, H. O. Keagy, W. R. Keagy, W. L. Wright, Charles Crowley, W. K. Leche, G. W. Campbell, and J. P. Trader.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the captains selected the persons who will be solicited in the city. The teams will not be given districts as in the last drive, but each captain will choose a prospect in turn until the list is exhausted. The territory to be covered will be scattered, but each canvasser will know just where to find his prospect.

Each noon next week dinners will be served to all the canvassing teams, at which reports of the canvass will be received. Connellsville's quota has been placed at $40,000, and it is hoped that this will be decided before the drive ends on Monday, May 27.

The first donation from the Red Cross auxiliary at Indian Head was received today. Four dozen pieces, principally towels and pillow cases, were received.

The Boy Scouts went to work this afternoon to distribute the Red Cross advertising matter. The scouts will cover the city with posters and literature on the Red Cross.

Was Held Up for Lack of Proof of Father's Naturalization

NO RECORD IN UNIONTOWN

Was the First Message But a Later One Established His Claims.

ARRIVAL WAS TOO LATE

Will Join Comrades Over There; Now on His Way; Keen Disappointment to Well-known Member of Company Who is a Descendant of Patriots.

To have passed all the examinations and tests, gone through eight months strenuous drill and intensive preparation of every kind in readiness to measure strength and skill with the Kaiser's soldier; to be at the point of embarkation and all fitted out ready to start on the journey overseas, then at the last moment be prevented from going, is an experience Mess Sergeant Louis M. Chubboy of Company D has been obliged to undergo.

On the final examination of the members of the 110th Regiment, before embarking, to determine whether every requirement of the regulations had been complied with, it was discovered that Sergeant Chubboy had not presented duly authenticated proof of the naturalization of his father. The wires to the Fayette county court house were made to fairly burn with the urgency of the message asking that these proofs be forwarded at once. Through some mix-up or misunderstanding at the Uniontown end reply was sent indicating that there was no record of Chubboy's naturalization. This stirred Chubboy junior to still more intense activity and finally the message arrived at the embarkation camp establishing the claims. Sergeant Chubboy had made that his father was a sure-enough American citizen, even though he had been born in Hungary, now joined with Austria to form the Austro-Hungarian empire, no longer a mere ally but now a sub-servient vassal of Germany.

The receipt of the proofs arrived too late for Sergeant Chubboy to sail with Company D, but he was assured that he will be sent forward at the first opportunity to join his command. Even now he may be on his way, but unlike the theme of a popular song he knows where he is going.

The feeling of disappointment he suffered over the incident is forcibly expressed in a letter Sergeant Chubboy wrote to E. G. Hall, the South Pittsburg street art dealer, "Believe me," he said, "it had me going for a while. But it's all O. K. now and I will leave shortly to join the 'bunch' over there."

"Gee! did you ever have your heart set on some adventure and then have to stand back while your mates go ahead? By Jove, I was full of murder and sudden death when I was informed I couldn't go, because word had been received from Uniontown that there was no record of my father's naturalization. It's a darn good thing I couldn't get to Uniontown for at least some one would have been mugged on a bit. But as I said it is all right now for I have my proofs and am, comparatively speaking, on my way to Hell and the Kaiser."

Every inch a soldier, Sergeant Chubboy is a well known member of Company D, his martial bearing and striking appearance attracting attention wherever the company has appeared on parade. He has had interesting experiences, having served in the Regular Army, and taken part in an expedition into Mexico prior to the beginning of the last series of revolutions in that country. He served with Company D during its tour of duty on the Mexican border in 1916 and was one of the first members to report ready for service when the National Guard was mobilized last July.

Sergeant Chubboy is descended from a long line of soldiers of Hungary, his grandfather having enjoyed the distinction, rare in his day, of having been promoted to a commissioned officer from a sergeant's position. Practically all of Sergeant Chubboy's male ancestors took part under Louis Kossuth, the patriot, in the rebellion in Hungary in 1848 when an unsuccessful effort was made to establish a republican form of government in that country which has since been an unwilling mate of Austria in the dual monarchy over which Emperor Josef ruled so long. After the rebellion was crushed there was an exodus of patriots from Hungary, hundreds of them coming to America. Sergeant Chubboy's parents and immediate friends being among the number. Those less fortunate suffered execution by orders of the government, which was then, and since has been dominated by Austrian influences.

It has been but natural, therefore, that the descendants of those patriots have been out of sympathy with the cause of Germany and Austro-Hungary. (Continued on Page Two.) before he is picked up and taken to a hospital. While out there the wound becomes infected, gangrene sets in, and it is necessary to yank off the limb. His clothing is all cut off and when he is sent to England, no longer useful as a fighter, he doesn't own a thing in the world. Here the Red Cross takes care of him.

"That only proves that everybody back here has to support the Red Cross. It is for your own boys you are doing this. You have some boys back there in London now—sick. You've got a duty back here—to back up your boys. Every time you contribute to the Red Cross you contribute to the comfort of a soldier over there."

"We Canadians don't have any use for Germans," he said. He told of an occasion when a Canadian officer was crucified by the Germans. "They stuck bayonets in him and hung him on a post. We took stern measures when he was taken and no prisoners are taken by us. We simply disposed of them."

"The German is no scrapper when it comes to hand-to-hand fighting. When we used to go over the top after them they would send up signals for help. Individually the German is no fighter, but he is trained as a machine. And believe me, it's some fighting machine which has to be licked. You'll beat the Kaiser all right, but you've got to fight."

"When the Germans come over the top, they are in mass formation. All we have to do is shoot. We could hit them with our eyes closed. When we go over we go in extended formation. His mass formation shows he doesn't have the courage of us Tommies. Besides that we leave room for the machine gun bullets to go between us."

Corporal Gowans gave other interesting descriptions of war conditions and added several of the jokes that are passed among the soldiers on the battlefield. He will go to Uniontown and other sections of the county before closing his tour.

HOWARD REPERT OVER HIS PARENTS' BELIEVE.

That the One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, in which are several Connelleville boys, has arrived overseas is the belief of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. HEF WINTER SPRY AS BOY

Tells of Remarkable Change That Overcomes Fire Fighter.

"The other day I caught father running a race with one of his grandsons," said J. Kenneth Winter, the known druggist of Hughesville, Williamsport, regarding the improvement in the health of father, James S. Winter, of Second street, Hughesville, chief of the Hesville Fire Department.
His stomach had been troubling for some time. He had no appetite and could not digest his food. His stomach seemed to be weak and he could only get his breath. He could only eat a block or two and would then be sick. He was very weak and down generally. His kidneys, too, were troubling him quite a bit.
I saw Taniae advertised in the papers, but I did not believe it to help him, but he finally decided to try it. It proved of great benefit to him. His stomach is in good condition and he can eat whatever he pleases. He isn't troubled with indigestion of breath and can get on and perform his work as usual.
Taniae has helped my father a great deal, and we are all very much glad about what it has done for him."

Taniae is now sold here by the Connecticut Drug Co.
Taniae can also be secured in Dun-

SURRENDER FIRST, PEACE NEGOTIATIONS AFTERWARD.

By taking excerpts from the address of Foreign Secretary Balfour in the British House of Commons yesterday, Germany may make the attempt to conserve its evidence of weakness on the part of England and the Allies as well. This construction could be placed upon the address if the opening declaration were taken without relation to the qualifying statements which followed.

"If any representative of any belligerent country desires seriously to lay before us any proposals," said Secretary Balfour, "we are ready to listen to them." Taken apart from the statements which followed this declaration could be given a wholly different meaning from that intended. It is well, therefore, that the British statesman left none of his hearers in doubt by following up his opening declaration with the reservation that before any peace proposal will receive attention it must be presented by accredited representatives of the belligerent countries and the proposal must be in such form that the sincerity of the offer cannot be questioned.

This is giving concrete form to the attitude of the United States and its Allies on the peace proposition. "None wants," says the Pittsburgh Gazette Times, "to continue the war a day longer than is actually necessary to the accomplishment of the objects for which it is being fought. But none is willing to be turned aside from the prosecution of the war to consider its sincere suggestions of negotiations coming from persons having no authority to speak for the enemy, or speaking for it simply to cause confusion. In other words, the initiative must be taken officially by the governments of the Central countries. They must offer something concrete. Their proposals must be in form to be considered by every nation now at war with Germany and her allies."

When Germany comes to a realization of the fact that unconditional surrender is the first condition antecedent to a peace, she will find every nation now opposed to her ready and willing to enter into negotiations, but not until these conditions have been complied with. It must be a peace that settles all issues raised by the war, not a starting point for another.

AMERICANS ALL!

The Germans are learning many things about the American troops abroad, things which they refused to believe were possible or about which they had made up their minds, no matter what the facts were. Their daily illumination as to the numbers, the fighting capacity and the resourcefulness of American troops will increase as the time goes by, says the Philadelphia Ledger. But if there are any of the writers and thinkers over there, if there are any exchange prisoners who have enough time left from their favorite pastime of abusing and misrepresenting American life, if there is any one in Germany in line that has any capacity for noting a fact, he must now know one thing, and that is, that whatever their names, whatever their origins, whatever their previous national relationships, the American officers and soldiers abroad are Americans all through.

That this is so we know; that it has been so for generations we also know, but Europe has thought differently. Of all those who have ridiculed the idea that we had developed or were able to develop a spirit of nationality and patriotism, the Germans have been the most unsympathetic and most insulting. In their indictment of what they considered was but a hodge-podge citizenship, "Lügen," while the Spanish thing that at us when they were at war with us and while it was the favorite idea of the Mexicans also, the German derision has even gone further; partly because, as is now plain, they believed they had set up a secret counter-propaganda which was to reduce the United States to the status of an "international boarding house," with Germany ruling the board. But that we are justified in believing that the melting pot does mean something is having a melancholy, if poignant and pointed, proof every day now when the lists of the killed and wounded are printed. Death and injury know no section or preference, so in these lists the good Anglo-Saxon names appear cheek by jowl with the Celtic, the Latin and the Slavic. If a Stepanik leads the list on one occasion, a Roberts closes it. And if there be a Defago there is also a Christian, a Perlmutter, as well as an O'Brien, a Cleary, a Sullivan, while an Briskine, a Graham, a Hall, a Harris and a Smith with a Klecha and a Klann tell of the varied family and racial strains, all of whom are ready to face and to meet death for the country of their birth or of their adoption.

This is the unity and faith that is having its baptism of fire, and every day, repeats the same wonderful variety of those who have suffered or have passed away forever. For those who are here the only sentiment possible in the face of this is the perpetual tribute of respect and a "hats off to Americans all!" And when all the facts are taken into account, no wonder returning officials, who have been working with the men at the front, cry out that "American bravery is the biggest thing in Europe!"

Some people are making the same kind of a Daily Noise in their persistent attempts to dump the boys of Company D into the front line trenches, before they arrive in France, that they are willing to let the William Lewis Ball of the 30th Engineers who was safe on the soil of France when the Lusitania was sunk by a Hun submarine.

Being engaged in the cheerful pastime of clipping coupons these days the holders of the Second Liberty Bonds are realizing that it pays to be prudent investors while also being patriotic citizens.

"Nobody will begrudge the postal employees the increase in salaries which seems to be in certain prospect, the Senate having approved the measure authorizing it. However, it will be a deserving but somewhat belated reward for faithful service."

Yesterday's speedy casualties were limited to two men injured, one seriously. These happy circumstances are being informed, "gave 15,000 people two spine chilling thrills," which apparently are necessary in that game, which is a "game" in developing the American motor."

Polling the Pulpit.

Belleville Watsonman.
Last Sunday, according to newspaper reports, pulpits in various sections of this state were surrendered to J. Denny O'Neil, Martin J. Brumbaugh, Francis Stark Brown, John R. K. Scott, A. Navin Dietrich and other politicians, to work politics. Of course all these persons made the pretense that they were preaching some moral interest but that is too absurd to deceive any one of active mind. Most of them are not concerned about moral questions or principles. They are politicians who were deliberately prostituting the pulpits they occupied to partisan uses. They don't care a snap for moral issues.

We have before protested against this form of polluting the pulpit, but it is increasing instances of diminishing. One of the offenders spoke from half a dozen pulpits on Sunday and some of the others could hardly lay claim to an incident in the subject. They were discussing, but they availed themselves of the opportunity to bring themselves and the politicians, they represented, into notice under conditions that must be repellant to the minds of genuine worshippers of Christianity. In the interest of morality in behalf of decency, every church member in the commonwealth ought to resent this outrage.

Imagine a "serp" under the shell of the church or a "snake-in-the-suit" device in the church. It would be scarcely less incongruous than a politician preaching about morals from the pulpit for purely selfish and sordid reasons. A politician who resorts to such expedients to gather votes is thereby and fundamentally dishonest and should be universally condemned that no man will in the future attempt so palpable a fraud. There are plenty of places for partisan discussion and ample time for political disputation without polluting the pulpit of the Christian church.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

THE FINEST FELLOWSHIP.

There may be finer pleasures than just tramping with your boy,
And better ways to spend a day, there may be sweeter joy,
There may be richer fellowship than that of son and dad,
If there is, I know it not; it's one I've neevghad.

Oh, some may choose to walk with kings and men of pomp and pride,
But as for me, I choose to walk with my younger at my side,
And some may like the rosy ways of grown-up pleasures glad,
But I would go a-wandering with just a little lad.

Yes, I would seek the woods with him and talk to him of trees,
And learn to know the birds a-whine and hear their melodies,
And I would drop all worldly care and be a boy again,
To see the mother smile.

Grown men are wearisome at times, and selfish pleasures jar,
But sons and dads throughout the year, you see the latest comrades are,
So when I want a perfect day with every joy that's fine,
I spend it in the open with that little lad of mine.

Rippling Rhymes.

LOOK PLEASANT.

The news that comes from over the sea of our make my face with a green pale, and I can feel my toes freeze, while I peruse the dismal tale. I read how these have pushed a wedge right through the allies, deep and wide, and I exclaim, "It's time to hedge—the hell is going with the hide. Some moonlight F used to see in the sky, who said the Teutons would win, but at this hour all bets are off, and here's where hedging must begin. My wife remarks, 'Don't talk that way when you are misreading the bunch, you might dishearten some poor boy and make him think we've lost our march.' You know as well as I do, James, your lamentations are a fake; I will lose, perchance, a brace of games—the series was, after bound to take. What if, perchance, someone else, and lose a hip, a toe, or a arm? You know we'll get the Teutons' hides and add it to the barman. These names by my name, Jane, I show my dotard fears away and go, here

O'Neil and Scott

Should Be Defeated

(Political Advertisement)

Editor The Courier:

Dear Sir:—I see by the metropolitan newspapers that two of the men seeking offices at the coming primaries, J. Denny O'Neil, candidate for governor, and John R. K. Scott, candidate for lieutenant-governor, refuse to pledge themselves to abide by the Republican primary results. By their silence they have given the impression that they may run independently in the event of their defeat by the Republican electors. Both Senator Spruell, O'Neil's chief opponent, and Senator Beideman, who is running against Scott, openly declare that they will stand or fall upon the decision of the Republican voters, and, if defeated, they will heartily support the victorious candidates.

Senator Spruell, in the very first paragraph of his platform, states that he is in honor and duty bound to support, cheerfully and honestly, all of the nominees of the Republican voters of the state. This statement constitutes words of a true Republican, one who believes in the principles of the Republican party, and who is willing to abide by the decision of the majority. In other words, no other can-didation can be drawn from the silence of O'Neil and Scott than that their policy is to break up the Republican party, if they can, and elect a Democrat to the two highest offices in the state. Their attitude means that "you will either nominate us or we will defeat the candidates who defeat us at the primary."

Republicans everywhere admire loyalty in the party; they will not countenance disloyalty, especially among defeated candidates, and in a year like this, when it is so essential as necessary to place Republicans on guard and hold the great state of Pennsylvania in the Republican column, every true blue Republican should hesitate long before casting his vote for any man or men who look upon politics as a purely personal matter, and who are unwilling to accept the decision of a majority of the Republican voters. The attitude taken by O'Neil and Scott should mean their overwhelming defeat at the coming primaries.

Yours truly,

GEO. L. ARMSTRONG,

Connellsville, Pa.

REPUBLICANS

(Political Advertisement)

Every man who makes liquor should vote for J. Denny O'Neil. Why? Because his election means a new kind of politics in our state and country. With this new kind of politics, men in that business, as long as it lasts, will be permitted to do business unmolested. Political assessments have been a curse to the business. As a consequence the trade has been a curse to the public. Will you not get your eyes open?

Every man who drinks liquor should vote for J. Denny O'Neil. Why? Because with his election we will have a new kind of politics in state and country. The man who drinks beer or whiskey pays every political assessment and pays it many times over.

We may develop the facts in our court some of these days and will show that one political assessment of $50,000 has cost the beer drinkers of our country thousands upon thousands of dollars. The reducing of a beer glass from 14 ounces to 10 ounces is a small thing, but that alone costs the patrons of our saloons during the last eight years hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Now the chances are that the election of J. Denny O'Neil will not shorten on the life of the trade one day. You have been woefully deceived, time after time in our county that campaign funds might be raised.

Mr. Spruell is "dry." Mr. O'Neil is "dry." There is no excuse for a slush fund with which to buy votes at the primary. If there is money or liquor used this time the information will be given to Joseph F. Guffey, the Democratic candidate for governor, who has solemnly pledged that he will make good use of such information.

What Pennsylvania needs most is a new kind of politics. If we must change leaders in order to get this, for heaven's sake let us change leaders now.

A vote for J. Denny O'Neil is a vote for a new kind of politics in our county and state.

O'NEIL REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE.

P. S.—Our attention has been called to the circulation of unlawful sample pink Republican ballots. The man who printed these, the man who circulates them, and the man who uses them, violates the law. If any man offers you one, take it and mail it, with the name of the person who gave it to you, to the Committee, 45 East Main street, Uniontown. In that way we can find out who is responsible for this violation of the law.

many's interests. These are not citizens of foreign lands, retaining only a friendly memory of the Fatherland. They are to German officialdom, Germans, ready to do Germany's work—ready to serve Germany in whatever capacity she may see fit to place them. Here is merely another example of Germany's scheme of world empire—another step on her way to a "place in the sun."

Made-in-Germany Maps

Every German in a foreign land is, in official Germany's eyes, an outpost of German autocracy. Every outpost of German autocracy is considered an outpost of the German government. And the careful record that has been kept of German emigrants in various parts of the world shows only too well how much Germany is interested in her emigrated citizens—how much she still counts on their being German at heart, ready to forward Germany's interests, even to the extent of damaging the interests of the lands of their adoption.

Four maps reproduced in the World's Work for May are taken from Portes' Alteutscher Atlas published in Germany and containing a large number of similar maps, showing Germany's centres of influence all over the world. The United States, Canada, Brazil, Chile, South Africa, Australia, and a dozen other countries have all to consider the German in their midst. In the United States, nearly a third of the country is, according to one of the maps, said to be more than 30 per cent German. It is hardly conceivable that the percentage is so high, but it serves to bring home the seriousness of the situation. Parts of Brazil are nearly 100 per cent German!

There are, on the map of the United States, hundreds of crosses showing German churches. But they are there not to show any religious tendencies—not to show any moral benefit to the country as a result of German immigration—not to show the high standard of the German population. They are there merely to show the centres of German influence—of German Kultur, merely to show to what extent Germany is prepared to undermine the interests of the United States when those interests clash with the interests of the Fatherland.

According to the figures in the 1900 edition of the Alteutscher Atlas, there were at that time more than ten million Germans in America. Nine cities of the United States had more than 100,000 Germans each, while New York's total was slightly more, and Chicago's slightly less, than half a million. It is possible for a German to take out citizenship papers in a foreign country without losing citizenship in Germany. He can swear to uphold the constitution of the United States without being considered by the German government anything other than a German subject. Consequently the maps contained in Portes' Alteutscher Atlas are maps showing official Germany's idea of the number of German citizens in foreign lands, owing allegiance to Germany, advancing Ger-

"OUR LITTLE WIFE"—In which Madge Kennedy, the celebrated screen actress is seen in a comedy of incident in young married life, is being shown today. When Madge imagines she is ill and sends for the handsome young doctor who has already, aroused her husband's jealousy, she absent mindedly removes the temperature thermometer from her mouth and stirs her tea with it, causing it to show a prospect of immediate death. She is a well meaning and very childish wife, who carries a number of disappointed admirers along on her honeymoon and afterwards compromises herself for several of them in a swift series of misadventures are comical enough to compensate for their obvious artificiality. Each new picture of Miss Kennedy increases in popularity and drawing power, winning for this young girl the instant affection of millions. "Our Little Wife" is a swift moving story of action, ever-changing plot, jealousy, suspicion, laughter and speed. A Christy comedy is included. Monday, Harold Lockwood will be seen in "The Land-lopers," a five part Metro feature. William Farnum will be seen soon in "The Heart of a Lion," a Fox Standard picture.

ARCADE THEATRE.

The H. D. Zarrow Spring Maids company, playing at the Arcade theatre this week, is without a doubt a show of merit, this being their third appearance here. Mr. Raymond Lewis in his funny blackface character holds the audience in roars of laughter in all of his bits. Mr. Charles Markinson is a close second. These two boys work together in a way of their own. The bill for today is one written by Mr. Ray Lewis. He could not have written anything better for himself for his particular character. The show is in three scenes, opening with a modern minstrel first part, the second scene going into the board walk at Atlantic City, and the third scene in the home of a colored wash woman. The situations of the show are truly funny and original. The chorus works throughout these scenes, and taking this show as a whole one would think they were at a big musical comedy production. Miss Eva Hurley rendered several numbers and was requested a number of times to repeat them. Miss Elsie Zeigler surely took the audience by her rendition of her song, "Morning Glories." Mr. Fred Hurley as interactor handled his part in a capable way. The chorus works fast and appears just often enough so as not to be tiresome. The wardrobe is beautiful and becomes the young ladies that wear them. Today is the ending of the serial picture, "Vengeance and the Woman," and starting next Wednesday and Thursday, the same scene will be seen in a new serial entitled "The Woman and the Web," a play taken from the present war. The company changes will again Friday and Saturday, and this will be the last opportunity to see them, as they start on a long tour through the west.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE HUNGRY HEART"—When David Graham Phillips wrote this sixth best seller of the year, "The Hungry Heart," if he had known he was going to write it for Miss Pauline Frederick, he could not have come nearer a real character for which Miss Frederick is peculiarly fitted. Most stories end with the phrase, "And they lived happily ever after." This particular story begins with Courtney and Richard Vangelia just returning from their honeymoon to his old ancestral home. Miss Frederick takes the part of Courtney and the development of the wife's efforts to win and maintain her husband's respect and love during a series of unfortunate misunderstandings, causes the photograph to show some of the best work of Miss Frederick's already remarkable career.

MEYERSDALE, May 16.—Wednesday afternoon a meeting of the executive committee of the Red Cross was held in the Bogert's club room for the purpose of outlining the plans for the second Red Cross fund drive. The quota for Meyersdale has been fixed at $2,500, and the committee in charge will work hard to raise that amount and more, if possible. The town has been divided into four districts, and a captain for each district, who will have charge of his team. The campaign will open on Monday and will last for one week. Clarence Moore is chairman of the Meyersdale district.

SUMMER PAJAMAS ARE COOL AND COMFORTABLE.

Warm weather has brought about this charming creation in feminine pajamas, where sleeves have been discarded in the interest of comfort. Welcome, too, is the extreme lightness of the material, which will be conducive to coolness in the summer. Myriads of tiny tufts and pleats of fine val lace lend pleasing relief to these pajamas of flesh-color crepe de chine. Satin ribbon drawn under the tufts about the waist suggests a slender girdle.

Dr. W. H. Ryland, team chairman; John S. Workland, nine chairman, and Mrs. Bruce Lichty, chairman of the publicity committee. The ninth annual banquet of the Alumni association of the Meyersdale high school will be held in the social room of Zion Lutheran church on Friday evening, May 31, after the commencement exercises of the 1918 class. There will be an excellent menu served, good speakers, music and the election of officers will take place. Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bauman and three children and Miss Ruida Powell of Somerset, monitored here Wednesday for a visit with friends. Dr. D. T. Kurz of Johnstown, was a professional visitor here a few days this week. N. Save the Babies

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infant deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold to children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poison. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

GENERAL PLAN FOR CONSERVATION OF POWER PLANT FUEL

Is to Be Put in Operation By the United States Fuel Administration.

ENGINEERS ARE APPOINTED

To Supervise Inspections of Every Power Plant and Give Them Ratings Based Upon Degree of Conformity to Recommendations; Has the Scope.

The United States Fuel Administration has announced the appointment of Thomas R. Brown, of Pittsburgh, as administrative engineer for the Pittsburgh district, and C. P. Billings as special staff assistant. These appointments were made as a preliminary step toward putting into operation a general plan for fuel conservation in power plants.

This plan is the result of conferences with the Federal fuel administrators and their committees for the group of states, which together consume about 70 per cent of all the coal used in the United States, exclusive of railroads. The plan has received the endorsement of the fuel administrators of all these states, as well as approval of the United States Bureau of Mines and a committee representing the engineering council of the four national engineering societies.

The slogan of the campaign is "Maximum production with minimum waste." In other words, the object is to operate all industries at full capacity, but at the same time to make a pound of fuel perform its maximum service in power, light and heat.

In laying the foundations for the organization, it has been anticipated that this work should become a permanent service of the government.

Ten to twenty per cent—that is, from twenty-five to fifty million tons of coal per year—can be saved by the correct operation of steam power plants, using their present equipment, in the industries, in office buildings, hotels, apartment houses, etc.

It is considered most important that all existing fuel-conservation committees, committees of chambers of commerce and national defense, manufacturers' association, and other bodies be continued in full force, and that the work of such organizations be consolidated with the national program, which comprises certain fundamentals, as follows:

1. Personal inspection of every power plant in the country.

2. Classification and rating of every power plant, based upon the thoroughness with which every part of said plant conforms to recommendations.

3. Responsibility of rating the plants will fall upon an engineer in each district, the rating to be based upon reports of inspectors, who will not express opinions, but will collect definite information. The state fuel administrator, in his judgment, may entirely or partially shut off the consumption of coal to any needlessly wasteful plant in his territory.

4. Inspectors are to be furnished from one or more of the following sources: (a) Inspectors of the steam boiler insurance companies; (b) State factory inspectors; (c) Engineering students from technical colleges; (d) volunteers.

The ratings will be based upon recorded answers to questions, each of which will be given a value depending upon its relative importance to the other questions. Depending upon the efficiency of methods in use in any plant, it may be rated in class 1, 2, 3 or 4.

The ratings will be based upon existing equipment. The difficulty, delay, and expense involved in the installation at this time of improved power equipment is fully recognized, but experience has proved that 10 to 20 per cent of fuel now used in power plants can be saved by improvements in operation alone.

In advance of the first inspection a questionnaire will be sent to every power plant in each district, with notice to the owner that within 60 or 90 days his plant will be inspected personally and the questionnaire will be checked up by the inspector upon his visit. This action will tend to prepare the minds of plant owners for what will follow. It will operate to induce proper care in furnishing information and will also tend to produce a desire to improve their plants, if necessary, so that they may be rated in a high class by the time the inspector calls.

It is recommended that a board of competent engineers be attached to the conservation committee in each state; also a corps of lecturers to arouse public interest and disseminate engineering information.

The Fuel Administration has prepared a 50-minute film of moving pictures showing good and bad operation in the steam boiler plant, methods of testing boilers, fuels, etc. These pictures will be available for each state in connection with its educational propaganda.

The administration is also preparing a series of official bulletins on engineering phases of steam and fuel economics. Some of these are now ready for printing. They will include: Boiler and Furnace Testing; Flue Gas Analysis; Saving Steam in Heating Systems; Boiler-Room Accounting Systems; Saving Steam and Fuel in Industrial Plants; Burning Fine Sizes of Anthracite; Boiler Water Treatment; Oil Burning; Stoker Operation.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headaches, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe on the outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water, before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Adv.

SOME LESSONS FROM THE THOMPSON COAL LAND SPECULATIONS

Are Sharply Drawn By an Organ of the Steel and Iron Industries.

HELD AS DISCREDITABLE

And Should Not Have Been Permitted; Not Right That One or a Few Persons Should Buy up Coal Land and Control Market; Why Scheme Failed

In deducing lessons from the J. V. Thompson coal speculations, the American Metal Market and Daily Iron and Steel Report makes some rather caustic observations on certain phases of this remarkable episode in the financial history of Western Pennsylvania, as follows:

"With the sale to investors of the remaining coal holdings of Joseph V. Thompson, the last chapter has been written in an interesting but quite discreditable speculation. Mr. Thompson's position originally was that of president of the First National bank of Uniontown. He began investing in coal acreages, chiefly in the lower Connellsville or Kiondike region, gradually extending his operations until his holdings became spectacular. The operations eventuated in what was perhaps the most complicated tangle of notes, mortgages, leases and partnerships on record. Mr. Thompson, the bank and the whole community being involved. Eventually the load proved too great and in January, 1915, Mr. Thompson failed. The affairs have been in process of unravelment ever since.

"This whole operation was discreditable to the extreme and should not have been permitted. The matter should not be forgotten for there is a serious lesson in it. We do not refer particularly to the fact that Mr. Thompson used his connection with the bank in ways that should not be allowed, for such cases are, unfortunately, not altogether rare. Nor do we refer especially to the loss which Mr. Thompson's neighbors suffered through their having trusted too greatly to his business acumen and foresight. They were trying to make money and they believed Mr. Thompson would help them do so. Such cases are common and can be expected as long as the get-rich-quick idea is in the minds of men. Mr. Thompson was the hero of these people until he failed.

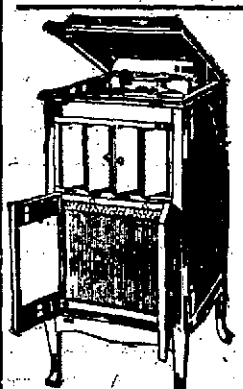

"What was particularly objectionable was the speculation itself. It is the affairs of the bank had been conducted within the strictest limits of propriety, if the bank had not failed. If Mr. Thompson had not failed, if his partners, endorsers and note holders had not lost money, the matter would have been worse still. Coal is a public necessity. It is not right that any man or group of men should be able to buy up coal land and produce a condition whereby those who wish to produce coal must pay fancy prices for the acreages the holder parcels out in such piecemeal fashion as to preserve his market. The time is not far distant when men will look back and wonder more that such things were permitted, and were considered in good form, than that men allowed the great war to occur.

"Mr. Thompson did not set out to do this thing. He began as an investor. He had observed the acreage in Connellsville region acreage that occurred through the growth of the iron industry and its call for more and more coke, and being farther sighted and more courageous than the holders of certain tracts he purchased the tracts to hold as an investment, as he or anyone else had a perfect legal and moral right to do, and always will have as long as our present system for the holding of real property obtains. Even longer, perhaps, for one can conceive of revolutionists bringing about a condition in which each man is given a non-transferable right to a certain portion of the earth's surface. Mr. Thompson was not dealing with the surface, but with a mineral hundreds of feet underneath.

"The time came, however, when the market value of coal acreage in the general district, raised by Mr. Thompson's continued purchases, became such that there was more disposition to offer it for sale than to buy it. Mr. Thompson proceeded to buy, in order to protect his market. To carry his constantly increasing load he formed partnerships, gave mortgages and gave secured and unsecured notes. There is little doubt that long before he crashed his chief motive was to longer to succeed personally in a great speculation that would make him very rich, but simply to bear the burden he had invited and carry through a great operation in which the comfort of a great number of individuals was involved. He is reputed to have worked twenty hours a day or a long time. Men do not do that merely for the sake of getting rich, particularly men of Mr. Thompson's type.

"Why did the speculation fail? There was a complication of causes. Mr. Thompson may have misjudged the situation to an extent. He may have underestimated the distance from the old basis to which selling out of somewhat comparable quality extended. He may have misjudged the character of the men in the iron and steel industry and considered them more ready than they proved to be to buy coal acreage from a speculator who obviously counted on banking his own credit. He probably expected the iron and steel industry to grow after 1917, at somewhat the rate that obtained for a number of years previous, and that it did not do.

"Quite possibly he underrated the probabilities of the by-product coke. If he did not, he certainly missed the technical point that in the years when he was gathering his properties, and up to the time he failed, the concerns that controlled the various forms of by-product coke ovens, and the concerns who operated by-product plants, did not know what were the best coals for them to use. Even at this present time, years afterwards, the information is not as precise and complete as it might be. Five years ago ten years ago, men did not know which were the best coal deposits to buy to feed by-product ovens. Unless to speculate against a general rise in coal acreage prices, in all districts. It was much safer to be without extensive coal holdings. The by-product oven was a certainty. No mistake could be made in building a by-product coking plant, if proper engineering talent was employed. To circumscribe one's future, by deciding that one coal, and one coal only, would have to be used in all the future in that plant, was a hazardous speculation."

Every Day Coiffures and Others.

Perhaps it is because hats continue to be close-fitting and set well down on the head that the coiffure for everyday remains simple. There appears to be only one feature that is insisted upon as a style element of the coiffures of today and that is, that the ears are to be covered or nearly covered by the hair. The brow may be bare, with the hair combed directly back, and this is the rule for youthful faces, or it may be partially covered, but no coiffure shows more than the lobe of the ear.

Lonely weaved hair looks especially well in these simple styles in their dressing, whether the hair is combed straight back or shows a shallow parting. Sometimes a parting is indicated at the middle of the forehead where a small strand of hair is drawn back and the remainder pulled a little forward over the brows and ears as shown in the coiffure to the left of the picture. When a wide parting is more becoming, as it is to many faces, a shallow part is placed either to the right or left of the brow, whichever is found the more becoming. A part to the right appears in the other coiffure pictured. Quite often the hair is arranged in a long puff just above the ears and this is spread so as to partially cover them and pinned in place with invisible wire pins. The hair over the ears is about all of it that will be visible with the new millinery. No such simplicity of styles governs hair dressing for formal dress and evening wear. Except where the plain and simple coiffure is more becoming than any other, the hair is always waved and usually dressed high when its glory is not to be obscured by a hat. Puffs and short curls add their very potent and feminine charm to the ever-present waves.

For Ankle Beauty.

If the flesh of the ankles is to be reduced, apply camphorated oil, rubbing it in, while the skin is soft and the pores open from a bath, with strong, vigorous strokes. Then bind the ankles tightly with a linen that has been soaked in oil. This bandage should be drawn as close as possible, but care must be taken to avoid stopping the circulation. When the ankles are too slender for beauty, after taking the hot foot bath massage their surface gently with cod liver or sweet almond oil and bind them tightly in a linen soaked in the same solution. If you are not satisfied with the shape of your ankles, follow this method carefully and see if the results are not well worth the effort.

GREAT WRITER A REAL BOY

Charles Dickens, Like the Average Youngster, Had His Dreams of Becoming a Pirate.

The English boys of years ago—there never was any doubt as to American boys of that or any other period before or after—had romantic ideas as to becoming ruthless robbers by land or pirates on the high seas. It is shown by a recently discovered speech made by Charles Dickens and reported in the London Times of April 13, 1864, from which the following quotation from the London Dickensian is taken: "Mr. Dickens said his first recollections of the northwest of London (this was in 1824, when he was twelve years old), were connected with a certain waste plot of ground used almost exclusively for beating carpets. The only ornaments of the locality, were a piece of stagnant water, a few straggling docks and some stunted greens. With it, however, was associated the romantic story of the 'Field of the Forty Footsteps,' according to which a duel had been fought there between two brothers, the victor dreadful paces over which the victor pursued his victim being marked by the withering up of the grass in forty distinct places. Dickens had often gone there, he said, accompanied by an adventurous young Englishman, aged eleven, with whom he had intended going to the Spanish Main as soon as ever they could amass sufficient wealth to buy a cutlass and a rifle."

The University of London afterward was erected on this site. Dickens as a boy in April, 1827, saw the cornerstone laid and "the ceremony of laying the first stone of a new and splendid public building," of which Mr. Pecksniff was the architect, as narrated in "Martin Chuzzlewit," was a reminiscence of this event.

WHITES POOR PEARL DIVERS

Tried in Australia, but All Engaged in the Business Are Either Dead or Paralyzed.

Efforts have recently been made to employ white men as pearl divers off the coast of Australia, and legislation for the purpose has been adopted, in order to more fully open that industry to Europeans.

But it now appears that the experiment has been by no means satisfactory. A very interesting statement on this subject has recently been made by Captain Talboys, who has had wide experience of panning on the Australian coast. He says emphatically that white divers are an impossibility. He had hoped that the white man would have proved a successful diver, but he says that, after a very lengthy experiment, the idea had been abandoned.

The divers, six or eight of them, who were brought to Australia by the master panners, from Messrs. Stebbins, Gorman & Co., and Messrs. Henkle & Co., submarine engineers, about two years ago, were all either dead or paralyzed.

In view of the further facts alleged, there appears to be no scope for white pearl divers in Australian waters. For, as the result of a year's diving, says Captain Talboys, the best returns of the white divers did not exceed a ton, whilst the average yield of an Asiatic's work was between four and five tons.

Besides, the Asiatic worked for $10 to $15 per month, plus a commission on the shell raised, while the white man received $70 per month, with a similar commission, in addition to which the cost of keep for the white man was about three times that expended on the Asiatic.—Far East, Tokio.

The Lover's Domain.
"You say," remarked the married man, "that all the world loves a lover. But where do you get that stuff? Poetry, eh? If it's poetry it must be true. A poet wouldn't lie."

"So, all the world loves a lover! There's the fellow who has to sit up to let the lover in when he comes home late. Then there are the people at the house who have to sit up until the lover goes home. There, also, are the people who can hear the lover talking through the wall—mumble, mumble, mumble! But that's all right. The fellow is a lover, and all the world loves him!"

"It is time for Mary, the nurse, to be getting back with the children. But Mary has a lover, which makes it all right. A doctor can save the baby if it catches cold."

The Jury.
The "gentlemen of the jury" are often accused of stupidity, but it is doubtful if a more pronounced case can be found than that which occurred in a remote town in Maine not long since.

The clerk of the court addressed the jury:

"Well, gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," replied the foreman.

"What say you? Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty, or not guilty?"

"We do."

"You do? Do what?"

"We find the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty."

"But, gentlemen, you must explain."

"You see, six of us finds him guilty, and six finds him not guilty."

Not Necessary.

"Well, look at that man across the street taking off his hat to the woman he's parting from!"

"Why shouldn't he, if he's a gentleman?"

"But she's his wife."

Drive a Nail Here--Now.

In every healthy body there are fifty grains of iron, about as much as is contained in an ordinary "tenpenny" nail. By reason of lack of iron in the blood many persons are anemic, pale, thin, emaciated, their blood corpuscles are uneven, instead of being round and full of good red blood, and the nerves are lacking in strength. Feed the nerves on good, rich, red blood, and one feels full of vigor.

How can we acquire good red blood? It is easily answered. For many years Dr. Pierce and his staff of physicians at the Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., experimented with iron and other tonics, and finally found a soluble iron which, when combined with native herbal extracts, made a wonderful blood and nerve tonic. This they named "Iron-Tonic." It can now be had at most drug stores, and comes in 60-cent vials. If you feel worn out before the day is half over, if your blood is poor, if you are pale, or pimples or boils appear on the face or neck, go to the nearest drug store and get "Iron-Tonic" tablets. Take them regularly for thirty days, and you will notice the wonderful energizing effect. You will feel full of vim, vigor and vitality, instead of dull, tired and weak. If you wish to make a test send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and obtain a trial package. Do it now!

Juan Fernandez

Tablet Erected to Alexander Selkirk's Memory on Juan Fernandez.

There have been recent references to the Island of Juan Fernandez in the south Pacific ocean, 550 miles off the coast of South America. Juan Fernandez lies under about the thirty-seventh parallel of south latitude and is a little south of west from Valparaiso, Chile, from which it is distant about 690 miles. Close upon the Island of Juan Fernandez is the much smaller Island of Santa Clara, and something more than 100 miles farther out to sea, west by a trifle south, is a lone island of the name of Masafuera. There are no islands between Juan Fernandez and the mainland. And it lies in a particularly lonesome part of the vast ocean. The eightieth parallel of longitude passes nearly a hundred miles west of Juan Fernandez, and that parallel passes between two small islands, St. Felix and St. Ambrose, nearly 1,000 miles north of Juan Fernandez. Santa Clara and Masafuera.

Not only have there been recent references to Juan Fernandez Island, but frequent references to it may be read in the public prints, and nearly always it is referred to as Robinson Crusoe's island. Yet the reference is incorrect and many thousands of miles out of the way. However, it is probable that the geographical or literary error has been given too much headway ever to be overtaken and corrected, and no doubt it will be perpetuated.

Not Crusoe's Island.

There are few places in the world which have given so much interest and entertainment to boys as the lonely island on which Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday had their adventures. There is no telling just where Defoe thought Robinson Crusoe's island was, but it most certainly was not in that part of the world where the Island of Juan Fernandez lies. If anywhere, it was on the Atlantic side of the great continent of South America, off the eastern coast of Venezuela or the north coast of British Guiana, somewhere about the mouth of the Orinoco river. But then there are several months to that vast river and, though there are islands there, no evidence of occupancy by Robinson Crusoe has been found and none of the footprints of Friday have been discovered.

The only clue to the island is found in Defoe's magnificent story itself, where Robinson Crusoe speaks as follows:

"I asked him how far it was from our lands to the shore and whether the canoes were not often lost; he told me there was no danger, no canoes were ever lost, but that after a little way out to sea there was a current and wind, always one way in the morning, the other way in the afternoon. This I understood to be no more than the sets of the tide as going out and coming in; but I afterwards understood that it was occasioned by the great draft and reflux of the mighty River Orinoco, in the mouth or gulf of which river, as I found afterward, our island lay, and this land which I perceived to the west and northwest was the great island of Trinidad on the north point of the mouth of the river."

Where Selkirk Was Marooned.

The Island of Juan Fernandez became associated with the story of Robinson Crusoe from the fact that on that island Alexander Selkirk was put ashore at his own request after a quarrel with the captain of the ship Clique. Selkirk lived on the island for four years, and in 1712 there appeared a book entitled "Cruising Voyage Round the World," which was written by Capt. James Cook, who had rescued Selkirk from the island. Part of the adventures of Selkirk were told in that story, and it is supposed that it was this hint which stirred Defoe's imagination and led to the writing of Robinson Crusoe.

Capt. Rogers' book, in which the adventures of Selkirk were told, was also the inspiration, or rather the text, of Cooper's poem, which is generally called "Selkirk," but which the poet, in what was fashion in the eighteenth century, called "Verses Supposed to Be Written by Alexander Selkirk During His Solitary Abode in the Island of Juan Fernandez."

A literary man who took up the connection between Selkirk's adventure and Defoe's story of Robinson Crusoe has written this:

"There was more than enough of a judgment for Defoe, for Cooper, for scores of others. But Defoe never got his hero, Robinson Crusoe, round the Horn or into the Pacific at all; he started him from England, shipwrecked him in Africa, sent him as a planter to the Brazils—as he always pluralizes the name—and finally blew him north, shipwrecked again on an island which Defoe carefully labeled on the title page of the first edition as being 'at the mouth of the mighty Orinoco,' a continent and parts of two oceans removed from Juan Fernandez."

The Island of Tabago in the Caribbean archipelago was mentioned by one writer as the island of Crusoe, but Tabago, north of the Trinidad, is too far from the mouth of Orinoco to agree with what Crusoe says of the location of his island. Louis Bhead, in a preface to one edition of Robinson Crusoe, wrote: "A map has been prepared to show the real location, which is at the mouth of the Orinoco, thirty miles northwest of Trinidad, an island lying just in the Caribbean archipelago. The island is now known as Tabago."

A good many distinguished writers have mistaken the Island of Juan Fernandez for the island of Robinson Crusoe, and among them was R. H. Dana, Jr., who, in his "Two Years Before the Mast," wrote that he saw the Island of Juan Fernandez "rising like a deep blue cloud out of the sea" when his brig, the Pillar, was seventy miles away. After the brig's stop at the island, Mr. Dana wrote: "I gave it a parting look and bid farewell to the most romantic spot of earth my eyes have ever seen because of the associations which every one has connected with it in their childhood from reading Robinson Crusoe."

CURIOUS CUSTOMS OF INDIA

Dancing Girls Married to Idols Representing Gods, Is One of the Oddities.

Parrots are taught in India to spend a large portion of their time in repeating the names of gods, and such a spokesman brings a good price, especially among business men, who imagine that by owning such a parrot their spiritual treasures are accumulating while they attend to their usual occupations.

Many of the dancing girls in India belonging to the temples are called the wives of the gods. At an early age they are united in wedlock to the images worshiped in the temples. This strange matrimonial connection is formed in compliance with the wishes of the parents, who believe it to be a highly meritorious act to present a beautiful daughter in marriage to a senseless idol.

The only foreigner who ever saw the inside of the great temple of Jagernaut was an English officer, who succeeded in gaining admission by painting and dressing himself like a native.

When the Brahmins discovered that their holy places had been thus defiled they became so enraged that all the English residing at the season were obliged to flee for their lives. Suspecting their pursuers to be more desirous of gratifying their avarice than their reverence, they strewed silver money by the way, and while the natives stopped to pick it up they gained time and succeeded in reaching a place of safety.

Unreasonable Expectations.

We would not be disappointed in our friends so often if we were more reasonable in our expectations. The best people have faults. No one is so some time say an impatient word. The wisest blunder, not once, but many times. Do not look for perfection in those you love. It is enough if they are doing their best to conquer their faults.—Girl's Companion.

Why Aluminum Shoes Are Used. The scarcity of leather, principally, has brought on the market an aluminum shoe for workers, leather and rubber being used in small amounts for added foot ease. These shoes are durable, waterproof, comfortable and noiseless; they do not gather snow or mud, do not slip, and quickly adjust themselves to the shape of the foot, hold their shape to the last and are very economical.

The New Styles In Clothes for MEN—

THERE'S a touch of militarism to the new styles, especially for young men. The shoulders are slightly accentuated and the five seam panel back gives the broad shouldered soldierly effect. The new colors are the various shades of blues and browns.

The older men have not been slighted either. They will find a touch of style in the new models that they'll be proud to wear.

But come and see. There are new clothes—new styles, new fabrics—new colors to suit all.

FATALITIES GAINED

25 PER CENT DURING
THE FIRST QUARTER

Industries Led With 362, Mines Coming Second With 302; Payette County Furnished 30 Fatalities.
Fatalities in the state increased 25 per cent from January 1 to April 15, this year, over the record for a similar period in 1917, according to reports of the Bureau of Statistics of the Compensation Board. The fatalities are divided as follows: Mines, 302; industries, 362; public service lines, 182; making a total of 846 for the first three months and 15 days of this year. During the same period last year 246 employees were killed while at work in the mines, 320 in industrial plants and 32 on public service lines. The record for 1916 was as follows: Mines, 333; industries, 276, and public service, 87.

Liveria county heads the list with the largest number of fatalities in the mines, this year, 65; Schuylkill county second with 38; Lackawanna county third, with 32, and Payette county has 30. Other counties of the state in which mining is one of the industries show few fatal accidents.

One of the reasons given for the fatality increase over the previous year is the employment of great help in and about the mines. Enthusiasm, and the draft have taken from channels of industry many of the experienced employees, leaving vacancies to be filled from the available supply of labor to be obtained. Speeding up operations to meet the demand for coal has also had a tendency to bring about conditions, which are considered as requiring attention.
